Red Cross workers had been helping flood victims for almost a week, despite the outbreak of the coronavirus in Iran – which was identified two weeks later. However, the government has now ordered all NGOs, including the Red Cross, to leave the country to prevent the spread of the infection. The BBC reported that Iranian officials said the flood is the worst to have hit the country since the Iran-Iraq war in the 1980s. On Saturday, the UN said the virus was "very likely" spread as a result of the flooding, and added that an initial estimate of the number of people infected could be as high as 1,000. In the city of Kashmar, in the northern province of Golestan, the flooding took the lives of 30 people, according to provincial official Nasrat Vahdani. He added that nine other people died from drowning, while 18 others are missing. Pinarbaq sensing. Metal-organic frameworks (MOFs) are receiving great interest in the development of new sensing materials. We report on the synthesis and catalytic properties of mesoporous Cu-MOFs as sensors in response to CO, ethanol and H(2)O/Ar. Due to the ease of structural design and structural instability, this class of porous metal-MOFs is an efficient tool for the development of gas-sensing devices.\]) has a solution with $u=u_0e^{kz}$ for some $k\in \mathbb{N}$.
